X marks the spot where the avant garde of the Australian Indigenous art movement exists. For 15 years the Mangkaja Arts Resource Agency has created social and political change, supported economic development and some of our most significant artists in a place we call Fitzroy Crossing.

Intense vibrant palettes, confident and open brush marks, an intimate knowledge of country and the support of an art centre has seen artists of Fitzroy Crossing reshape our way of seeing contemporary Australian indigenous art.

A curatorial lecture will be presented the following
Saturday 22nd September at 1.00pm
