Composing Light (Olley's Horizon)

In my window of vision, I arrange objects within the landscape as still life compositions. I invite my viewer to experience the traces of vibrancy and fleeting moments of joy created by the gradual change in environmental conditions and sunlight across the Tweed Valley, NSW. Painting gives substance to this movement in the landscape, a captivating moment where the shadows that visit the objects come together and eventually fall apart like a song fading at the mercy of time.
