*'Silence' an exhibition by Henri van Noordenburg and Eryn Begley.
This exhibition includes solo and collaborated works concentrating on the theme of silence created around religion, family dispute, and migration.*

Henri's work is created by hand carving into a photographic print, with these one off artworks being influenced by etchings of the Dutch masters and questioning masculinity as well as one's sense of belonging.

Eryn's sculptural assemblages incorporate reworking old books, found objects, and antique family photography, utilising techniques and processes common in jewellery/metalwork studio practice.
